TO OVERTHROW STATE AUTHORITY

In Order That Half the Southern Districts Should Be Represented by Negroes-Opinions of Congressmen.

WASHINGTON, March 16 .- [Special.] -- The southern representatives have not been as much exercised over any measure before congress in many years as the federal election taw bill, introduced by Henry Cabot Lodge

It is the unanimous opinion of the scuthern men that, while the bill on its face appears to apply to the whole country, it was only intended for the south, and can only effect the south. In no northern state, they say, would either party dare to impugn the honesty of the state officers by peti-tioning the federal government to take charge of their elections. In the south, however, it is different. No trouble will be experienced In getting up such a petition as the bill prorides among negroes. Therefore, they say it will be only applicable to the south. Here are the opinions of some leading southern demotrats gathered tonight:

MR. CANDLER SPEAKS.

"I regard it as an extremely partisan measure," said Mr. Candler, of Georgia, who was chairman of the educational committee in the last congress. "The bill is plainly in-tended for the south alone. Federal supervisors and managers will only be appointed in the south. One will be nominally a republiwill be scoundrels who will swear anything and to anything to get the two dollars a day. No decent democrat will be appointed. The effect will be that it will create a condition in the south similar to that of the reconstruction period, and will only result in alienating the races, and will more perfect the supremacy of the white race. If the idea of surrounding the polls with federal marshals of the type we usually have in the south, is carried into effect, there is great danger of riot and bloodshed at the polls.

The white people of the south, whether they number more than the blacks or not

FROM GENERAL CATCHINGS. "The bill," said General Catchings, of Mississippi, "is designed to prevent negroes from voting the democratic ticket. The federal supervisors will simply be repubspies upon the negroes. The is designed to force the back to the old state of antagonism to the white people prevailing in the reconstruction days. It seems the republiof the negroes as though they were children. The bill is purely sectional, it will never be applied to the north, but it will raise the biggest crop of hell throughout the south that has sult in changing a single southern district.

"They cannot pass the Australian feature for it is not applicable to a country where many of the voters can neither read nor write." CRITICISED BY JUDGE CRISP.

ever been heard of. It will, however, not re-

"Such legislation," said Judge Crisp, of Georgia, "is vicious, because, if not unconstitutional, it tends to centralization of power in the federal government. The bill proceeds on the idea that the people and officers of the states are not to be trusted; that all purity, patriotism and loyalty is here in congress, and not in the states. Practically the law cannot be operative except in the south. It vests in the judiciary such powers effecting the legislative department as powers effecting the legislative department as is subversive of the distinction that ought to exist between the various departments of the government. It necessarily brings judges into politics, and is designed, in my opinion, to defeat and not to further an honest expression of the popular will in the south, under the pretense of adoping the Australian system, which is designed to protect the voter from outside influence. This bill, as to illiterates, absolutely destroys the secrecy of the ballot, which essential to the independence the voter. The illiterate voter, under this system, cannot have his confident friend to mark or give him his ticket, but must, in the presence of the managers, who represent dif-ferent political parties, publicly state for whom he wishes to vote."

MR. BLANCHARD'S VIEWS. "It will create another reconstruction era in the south," said Mr. Blachard, of Louisiana. "There is a chance of it working to the benefit of the republican party in but then next election, evils will be clearly demonstrated, and it will react upon them. That portion of the bill providing for the federal government to take charge of the elections is clearly intended for the south, and the south only.'

SENATOR BERRY, OF ARKANSAS. "Its passage," said Senator Berry, of Arkanas, "will create fireat trouble to the south. A worse law for us could not be passed. However, should it pass, I hope to see such reaction that we will sweep the country in '92. It will injure the material prospects of the south i every way."

GEORGE T. BARNES, OF GEORGIA. "The bill is intended to be entirely sectional in character," said Mr. Barnes, of Georgia "It will place our elections in the south entirely in control of the federal authorities, utterly ignoring the rights of the states, Its ultimate object will be to deprive the democrats of the election of democratic representatives in many southern districts, and a return of republicans from them. I be lieve, however, it will fail in practical operation of our people in federal elections. I have strong hopes the bill will be defeated in the

MR. LANE, OF ILLINOIS. "It cannot be operative in the north," said Mr. Lane, of Illinois, "it is clearly intended for the south. It will be a great outrage upon the people of the south if passed. However, l doubt if it ever becomes a law. It is under cratic, a step towards centralization, and is a direct stroke at local self government." E. W. B.

THE WEEK IN CONGRESS.

An Effort to be Made to Dispose of the Blair

Educational Bill.

Washington, March 16.—An effort will be made in the senate tomorrow by Senator Plumb, in accordance with his notice of last Wednesday, to displace the Blair educational bill with his land grant forfeiture bill. A vote on this proposition will, it is supposed, indicate the fate of the bill. If the motion to supersede it on the calendar by the forfeiture bill is successful the belief is that it will not again be heard of at this session of congress. If the bill shall be further discussed under the present order, it will not occupy all the time of the senate until a vote is reached (Thursday afternoon) to the exclusion of other business, as but one or two more speeches are to be made of the house who are not charmen of committees.

It is the present intention of the committee on elections to press the Maryland contested election case of Mudd against Compton, to a conclusion during the week, and to follow that up with the Virginia case of Bowen against Buchanan.

The pension appropriation bill is ready for action, and will undoubtedly give rise to spirited discussion upon the subject of general neusion legislation.

The direct tax bill is in a position where it can be called up any day, and members of the ways and means committee express their confidence of being able to report the tariff bill before the close of the week.

AN INTERSTATE DECISION

In Which the Carloads and Less are Considered,

WASHINGTON, March 16 .- The interstate commission yesterday in an opinion by Commissioner Schoonmaker, decided the cases brought against the trunk lines by S. B. Thurber and others. Thomas L. Greene and Francis H. Leggett & Co., of New York city, known as the "carload cases" in favor of the complainanst The complaint was made of too great differ-The complaint was made of too great differences in rates charged on the carload and less than the carload quantities. filed memorials with the commissioner expressing their views for or against the relief sought for by the complainants. The points decided are briefly stated as follows:

The classification of freight for transportation purposes are in terms recognized by the act to regulate commerce, and is, therefore, lawful. It is also a valuable convenience, both to shippers and carriers. The classification of freight, designating different classes for carload quantities and for less than carload quantities, or transportation at lower rate in carloads than in less than carloads, is not in contravention of the act to regulate commerce. The circumstances and conditions of transportation in respect to the work done by the carrier and the revenue earned, are dissimilar, and may justify reasonable difference in rate. The public interests are subserved by carload classifications of property that, on account of the volume transported to reach markets or supply the demands of trade through. carload classifications of property that, on ac-count of the volume transported to reach mar-kets or supply the demands of trade through-out the country legitimately or usually, moves in such quantities. Carriers are not at liberty to classify property as a basis of trans-portation rates, and impose charges for its car-riage with exclusive regard to their own in-terests, but they must respect the interests of those who may have occasion to employ their charges, and is entitled to fair consideration, but it is not alone controlling, nor so applies in practice by carriers, and the value of the service to be properly carried is an essential factor to be recognized in connection with other considerations. The public interests are not to be subordinated to those of the carriers, and require those of the carriers, and require proper regard for the value of service in the apportionment of all charge upon traffic. A difference of rates upon carloads and less than carloads of the same merchandise between the same points of carriage, so wide as to be destructive to competition between large and small dealers, especially upon articles of gen-same points of carriage, so white as to be destructive to competition between large and small dealers, especially upon articles of general and necessary use, and which, under existing conditions of trade, furnish a large volume of business to carriers, is unjust, and violates the provisions and principles of the act.

A difference in rate for a solid car load of one kind of freight from one consigner to one consignee, and a car load quantity from the same point of shipment to the same destination, consisting of like freight on freight of like character, from more than one consignee, is not justified by the difference in the cost of handling. Under the official classification articles known in trade as grocery articles are so classified as to discriminate unjustly in rates between carloads or less than carloads, upon many articles and a revision of the classification and rates to correct the unjust differences and gives those respective modes of shipment more relatively reasonable rates, is shipment more relatively reasonable rates, is necessary and is so ordered.

Veterans Who Want to Ride at Govern ment Expense.

WASHINGTON, March 16 .- Inquiries have Washington, March 16.—Inquiries have reached the war deparsment from various quarters, asking whether there is any appropriation available to pay the expenses of veterans visiting the battlefield of Chicamauga for the purpose of aiding in identifying the lines upon which they fought. There is no fund available for that purpose. Upon the passage of the Chicamauga park bill, which is expected early in the summer, officers will be sent to the field to confer with all veterans who will gather there to assist in establishing be sent to the neid to confer with all veterans who will gather there to assist in establishing the lines. Until then, the time and expense of visiting the field would be entirely wasted, since no one can be there to make an official record of the information gathered, or to officially mark the points which might be designated by the visiting veterans.

But the Southern Ore Will Get There all the PITTSBURG, Pa., March 16.—The attempt Pittsburg, Pa., March 10.—Inc attempt to introduce southern ores in this market is a failure. A member of the firm of Carnegie, Phipps & Co., says 2,000 tons were received by them last week, but it is so much inferior to the northern production that they have refused to receive it, and will order no more. Other manufacturers interviewed say that it will never take the place of the ore now in use here.

Bishop Halsey Speaks to the Methodist Conference in Baltimore.

Baltimore, March 16.—Bishop Halsey, in an address before the Baltimore conference of the Methodist Episcopal church south, spoke in part as follows:

"I want to say that we have a high regard for you, and our colored people are looking to the Methodist Episcopal church south to aid them. We look to you, and you to us, for we know you, and you know us. Colored men have an abundance of religion, and, in fact, I sometimes think they may have more than the white man, but they may be lacking in the spirit of true Christianity. The colored man has a claim on his white brethren. I say this delicately but emphatically, for they were sent here on no act of their own, but through an overruling providence, and, as a result many Christian colored people are now angels in heaven. We were brought here as slaves, and I claim therefore that southern people ought to do their duty by them. When the flower of the imanhood of our sunny southland went to fight where blood flowed freely in the cause, our white people thought it was right when the colored man stood by the homes of their masters, and worked and delved and labored for the support of your wives and little ones, who were left behind by their soldier husbands and brothers.

They loved the whites then, and faithful they were on the old plantations, and they love and respect you still. As then, so still, the colored people constitute the mud sills of southern society, and the south will never be

THE BOOMERS ARE MOVING.

GUTHRIE, I. T., March 16.—The president,s proclamation, ordering all settlers on the Cherokee strip to vacate, is already having the desired effect. This, together with the order received by General Merritt, at Fort Leavenworth, to use the troops, if necessary, to eject the boomers, has already caused considerable of an exodus from the forbidden territory. All day trains were loaded down with boomers leaving the strip. A number went to Arkansas City, and about one hundred came here. Many poor people who flocked to the Cherokee strip under a wrong impression that it was open to settlement, have not the means to return, and will remain until the troops drive them out.

A NEW TOWN LAID OUT.

WILLOW SPRINGS, I. T., March 16.—
Neither the president's proclamation nor the order for troops to oust the boomers, has yet been received here. Consequently the boomers are arriving. Some are returning to Kansas and Oklahoma, but for every one that leaves there is a new couple to take his place. Many town site boomers are here, and considerable of a town has been laid off and surveyed. A large tent has been his place. Many town site boomers are here, and considerable of a town has been laid off and surveyed. A large tent has been erected where the boomers met today, and organized the town of Willow Springs. The streets are to be laid out tomorrow, and town lots are to be secured by lottery. Two female boomers were accorded the privilege of making the first and second choice of corner lots. A large lumber yard is to be erected and the building will begin at once.

THE TROOPS ORDERED.

FORT LEAVENWORTH, March 16.—General FORT LEAVENWORTH, March 16.—General Merritt has ordered six troops of cavalry to proceed to the Cherokee strip and oust the boomers there. Two troops of cavalry have been ordered from each of the three towns of Oklahoma City, Fort Reno and Fort Supply to proceed at once to Guthrie. At this point forces will be united under the senior captain, and a concentrated move on the settlers will be made. The forces started from the towns mentioned this morning, and will probably not all arrive at Guthrie before Monday night or Tuesday morning. Lieutenant Dodge, a staff officer of General Merritt, was dispatched yesterday from Fort Leavenworth to the strip to at once make a full report by telegraph of the state of affairs. The troops at Fort Leavenworth will be put in readiness to move should the report from Fort Dodge make such action necessary. It was learned this evening should the report from Fort Dodge make such action necessary. It was learned this evening that General Merrit has given instructions for the troops to give the settlers ample time to vacate before resorting to forcible measures. Under no circumstances will such measures be taken unless the boomers, after being given full opportunity to vacate, refuse to leave. In any case, the movement on the boomers will not be hasty. A day or two will probably elapse after the arrival of the troops at Guthrie before the march to the strip is taken up.

FOR FALLEN WOMEN.

SCATHING SERMON BY DR.

IN WHICH THE PICTURE IS HEYD UP.

The Injustice of Punishing the Woman While the Man Is Permitted to Mingle In Business and Society.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 16.-[Special.]

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 16.—[Special.]
The commodious and beantiful Centenary Methodist church, south, was filled with an audience numbering 1,500 leading people of Chattanooga today, to hear a sermon by the pastor, Rev. J. P. McFerrin, D. D., in behalf of fallen women.

The sermon was preached as a result of certain shocking immoral disclosures which have been made here recently.

Dr. McFerrin has organized a society to build a home for fallen women here, and his renowned eloquence was given full sway in their behalf. During the course of the remarks he said:

To us, there is all the difference between a six found out and a sin undiscovered. We walk every day in the midst of meral lepers, but we do not see their sores. We associate with adulterers and never shrink from their touch. There are wiven in this city who would fly from their husbands as from a coiled snake if they knew their private lives; and husbands who would be ashamed of their wives if they knew their thoughts.

If the doctors of Chattanoga were forced to make public the secrets of society, manya fair reputation would be blasted and many a high-headed, sanctimoneous church member would sink to the depths of infamy, where he ought to have been twenty years ago.

In a world of suners, let us not talk so much would sink to the depths of infamy, where he ought to have been twenty years ago.

In a world of sinners, let us not talk so much about social ostracism. If we are going to hew to the line, let us be just, and treat all that are equally guilty. If a fallen wounan deserves the punishment society visits upon her, then let her partner in crime share her fate. They are in the same heat, but for merry's sake don't have here. same boat; but, for mercy's sake, don't throw her overboard, to be drowned by social sharks, and and sink to the lowest depths of hell hereafter.

But how is it? The poor woman is treated as a moral gleper, shuned by decent society, fenced off with her kind, left to go on in her course, and come to an untimely grave and an awful hell.

But the gilded rascal who made her what she is stalks forth from his lecherous what she is stalks forth from his lecherous den dressed in the garb of respectability, and is allowed to enter our churches, sets in our parlors, dance with our fair maidens, mingle with our best society, deports in the sun-shine of fashion, and in gay plumage hides his blackened soul. Recking with the blood of his victim he goes forth as a wolf in shem? clothing victim he goes forth as a wolf in sheep's clothing in search of other prey!

And the worst of all is, he is known, and yet in a measure, is respected!

I beseech you, if you ever come across such a fiend in human shape, before you extend to him the hand of welcome, think of the soul he has murdered and the hell he has kindled. If there is a man who deserves a lower place in hell than a man who deserves a lower place in hell than another, it is he who wrecks a life and leaves it stranded upon the shore. If there is a being almost without the infinite circle of forgivenees, it is the man who blights purity in its bud, and robust the man who blights purity in its bud, and robust the weak of the writeless house which he are necessarily the strands of the writeless house which he are necessarily supported the writeless in well as the way were the strands of the writeless in well as the way were the strands of the writeless in well as the way were the well as the way were the writeless than the well as the way were the writeless than the well as the way were the well as the well as the way were the well as the wel another of the priceless jewel which he can never

Oh, thou corrupter of innocence, look upon the torn and bleeding lamb which thy lust has slain, and shed a tear if the Arcs of passion have not already consumed the foundation of thy soul. Look to him who beareth the iron rod of vengeance, and think of the appointed time of judgment!

In God's name, it isn't right. I have been told

In God's name, it isn't right. I have been told by those who know, that a majority of these fallen women were left orphans early in life, at the time they needed a mother's care. They were bright eyed, rosy cheeked, flaxen haired children, that would have adorned the palace of a king, loving and loved, who could read their future?

Poor orphaned ones! It is hard for the more favored to go through life, avoid its snares and make it a success, but how with these unfortunate orphaned children? If warm hearts opened not to welcome them, and strong hands stretched not out to help them, they were forced to struggle on. In such conditions young, unsuspecting nature seek some one to love, some one to trust.

Alas! alas! they loved too well, and trusted unwisely! Who blames them for loving and trusteing? As well blame the vine in the dark cellar for creeping toward the crevice through which the sunshine streams. A heart shut up in itself will wither and die. It must go out in saarch of something to love, but if it loves, and that love is absurd—if it trusts, and its confidence is misplaced—is that oause sufficient to damn it forever?

The Missionary's Mishap.

RALEIGH, N. C., March 16.—[Special.]—Some years ago Rev. Chas. Carlstrom went from Wilmington. N. C., to Finland and Lapland, to engage in missionary work. News has been received that his health has given way in the rigorous climate of those countries. He has been prostrated with dropsy, and it was necessary to amputate one of his legs to save his life.

A Negro Who Confesses to Having One of the Forged Deeds, and Who Later Denies It—Ordered Under Arrest.

MACON, Ga., March 16 .- [Special.]-The hearing of evidence in the Hall case was con tinued in the United States court. The court on Friday had ordered the negro Judge Goodwin, to produce the deed which it was alleged had been made to him by Hall. This deed he claimed to know nothing of, and evidence was introduced to show that the deed had been seen in his possession and that he had talked about it on several occa-

I was postmaster at Eastman for several years and was made fa-miliar with it in that way. I am positive it was his writing. "I talked to Goodwin one day in his field about the deed. He said he was afraid to give it up. He was afraid that other land grab-bers would kill him if he did. He first denied having it. He refused to let me see it."

Mr. John D. Wall swore as follows:
"I keep store in Eastman. Have known Goodwin a long time. I talked to him about the deed: told him to give it up. He was an old family negro, and I told him I didn't want to see him get in the penitentiary for stealing land. He asked me what he d do with it. I told him to turn it over to the ordinary. I thought he was going to d this, but afterward found out that he did not. TO DE HELD FOR CONTEMPT.

The court called Solicitor General Tom Eason, Colonel Smith and ex-Representative Raleigh, of Eastman, to testify as to Peacock's character. It was shown to be undeniably good, and his veracity unquestionable. The court then ordered that Goodwin be carried to the Chatham county jail and there confined until he should see fit to comply with the order Goodwin was then taken into custody by the marshal.

Hall went to the stand and testified that no such deed was ever drawn by him, and that such a deed was never in the possession of the negro. The court consided the foregoing evidence more reliable, however, and the order was

The case promises to have some more interesting developments tomorrow. Goodwyn is being kept guarded in a room in the United States court building, because he has expres a willingness to tell all about the deed. He will be brought into court tomorrow, and will tell all he knows. Goodwyn says today that he settled on a lot in Dodge at the directi Colonel L. A. Hall, and received a deed from him to the lot, but was warned by Hall not to show the deed to any one. Since the trial commenced, he was informed by Hall, in Macon, that if he, Goodwyn, produced the deed in court, that he would be killed should he return to Dodge county. Goodwyn says that it was because of this threat against his life that he swore to a lie Saturday in court. He says he gave the deed in Macon on Thursday to another negro, named Joe Hammond, to keep, and much to his surprise. Hammond gave the deed to Colonel Hall and Colonel Hall now has it in his own possession. Goodwyn states that Hall says he will produce the deed in court on Monday. There is much curiosity to know whether or not Colonel Hall will do this.

Judge Speer ordered that Goodwyn be sent to the Savannah jail, in conformity with an order passed by him some time ago relative to United States prisoners being confined there in future, instead of at the Bibb jail. The recent trouble between Judge Speer and Jailer Birdsong, of Bibb, is well known to the public. A few weeks ago a deputy United States marshal carried a prisoner to the Bibb jail, but Jailer Birdsong refused to receive him, it being optional with him by recent act of the legis lature whether to receive or decline a govern-

GONE TO SAVANNAH

In the Interest of Ocmulgee Navigation-A Great Demonstration.

Great Demonstration.

Macon, Ga., March 16.—[Special.]—Tonight Mr. R. M. Rogers, of the board of trade committee on Ocmulgee navigation, went to Savannah to see Lieutenant Carter, chief engineer in charge of the rivers and sea coasts of this district, in reference to certain matters appertaining to the opening of the Ocmulgee.

The East Tennessee road has gone to work getting up plans for their draw-bridges over the Ocmulgee, and will submit their drawings to the government for approval and correction, just as soon as possible. It is roperted that the Covington and Macon road is not moving up in the matter as energetically and prompt as the East Tennessee road, and do not appear to be in a hurry to change their bridge at Macon into a draw. It is said that this road is waiting for specifications from the government.

The county commissioners of Pulaski held a meeting last Wednesday and discussed the best manner of proceeding to change the county bridge over the Ocmulgee into a draw. They will no doubt let out the work for bids.

When the river is opened to navigation from Hawkinsville to Macon, Messrs. R. M. Rogers and George T. Harris, the board of trade's committee, will celebrate the event by a grand jubilee demonstration. A battery of three guns will proclaim the glad tidings, and at night a grand pyrotechnic display will be had. On the day of this celebrations was another treating to the county will be had. ### SWEET APPALACHEE,

WHO WAS LOVED BY THE BRAVE OCKLONOKEE.

The Desperate Test to Which the Maiden Put Her Lover's Devotion—She Then Follows Him Into the River.

Madison, Ga., March 16 .- [Special]-On the Appalachee river, at a point near where the Covngton and Macon railroad crosses that swift little stream, is a high bluff of overhanging rocks, protruding several feet over the edge of of the deep, dark waters of the stream. The river at this point is hastening along in its course to be dashed into foam as it tumbles over the shoals below the railroad bridge.

There is a traditional romance associ with this scene that may be of interest to the

Years ago, when the now prosperous and populous county of Morgan was the hunting ground of the red man, and when, instead of these comfortable homes of our people, there readers of THE CONSTITUTION. was only here and there an occasional Indian hut, there lived on a hill overlooking the Ap-palachee river, an old Indian chief, king of the then powerful tribe of Cherokees, who inhabited this section. Tradition has lost his name, but the identity of a beautiful Indian maiden, who was his daughter, is still preserved in the poetic name of the beautiful stream men-

Her eyes were as those of the gentle gazelle, her raven hair falling upon her shoulders in lovely folds, and her form of the most perfect mould, with step as light as that of a fairy, and a voice as sweet as the gentle marmur of the autumn wind as it whispers through the boughs of the trees. Her beauty was proverbial throughout the tribe, and every brave for miles around sought to gain her esteem, while many hoped to win her love some time in the future. But she held herself aloof from all approach, and their efforts were fruitless. Far to the south, in the distant land of the Creeks, there lived a noble young warrior, Ocklonohee, a man of mighty valor among his tribe, who was noted for his prowess and deeds of daring. On one of his hunting expeditions into the land of mould, with step as light as that of a fairy noted for his prowess and deeds of daring. On one of his hunting expeditions into the land of the Cherokees, in time of peace, he met this maiden, as innocent as the flowers of her native woods, and his heart was touched by her wonderful beauty. He pitched his camp near her father's wigwom, and resolved to remain near her for a few days. Together they strolled through the woods, gathering flowers and picking berries, and often visiting the stream which now bears her name. While standing upon the cliff mentioned above, one afternoon in the early autumn, as the last rays of the setting sun tinged the sky with their golden-hue. Ocklonohee told Appalachee of his love and asked her to gaace his wigwam.

As the startled fawn shrinks from the ap-

As the startled fawn shrinks from the approach of man, so this innocent maiden shrank from him who would assail the citadel of her heart. The young Indian lover pleaded with all the eloquence of his race, until the maiden finally told him to meet her there at the same hour on the following day, and she would give him her answer. With this she turned away, leaving him to conjecture a decision that meant so much to him. Slowly to him the time dragged along, and impatiently he awaited the coming of the hour and day of her appointment. In this mood he re-mained until the following day, when the lengthening shadows reminded this gallant young son of the forest to repair to the cliff, where he stood silently waiting the coming of hour on the following day, and she would give him her answer. With this she turned away, where he stood silently waiting the coming of his fair maiden. It was not long before this maiden, true to her natural instincts, appeared

"Ocklonohee," said she, "you do not love me, and to convince me of the sincerity of your words, I demand a proof. In order your words, and you must spring to thus convince me, you mus from this cliff into the river below, the other shore, and return to me to claim me

Those words fell upon his ears with a heaviness which cannot be described. With a desperation bordering on to despair, the ardent lover resolved to undertake the perilous task. To live without her, thought he, would be misery, and far better die in the attempt to gain her love. Seizing her hand, he raised it to gain her love. Seizing her hand, he raised it to his lips, gave her one longing look, turned and sprang off the cliff into the dark, deep waters below. Vainly he struggled to gain the opposite shore, finally reaching the middle of the rapid stream, where he remained battling against the mighty, rushing waters for a few moments. Overcome by fatigue, his struggles grew weaker and weaker, until he was borne beneath the merciless waves. As he sank to rise no more, he gave one longing look at the maiden who stood motionless, the shore and in his description. tionless on the shore, and in his despair he called aloud her name, "Appalachee," and was lost to her sight. Awakening to a realization of what a tragic end she had brought upon her lover, and for the moment overcome by her grief, Appalachee gathered her robes about her, and she, too, sprang into the seething waters, the cruel waves bearing her down beneath them, and her spirit joined that of her lover's in the happy hunting grounds. Today the same rushing river still rolls on, bearing her name, "Appalachee," which in the Indian tongue means "cruel waters." In after years, as the country tionless on the shore, and in his despair he her name, "Appalachee," which in the Indian tongue means "cruel waters." In after years, as the country was gradually settled by the whites, this tradition was given to the early settlers of this section. Often, so the story goes, as the twilight gathers among the hills, two forms have been seen to plunge into the stream from the cliff and vanish at the water's edge. The percentage of the story of the sto negro slaves in ante-bellum times, when hunting the raccoon and opossum in this wild and lonely locality, walked with trembling step and bated breath, expecting at any moment to see the "hants" which they claimed frequented the say hill and cliff. Today the trains of the Covington and Macon rush along on the tall and substantial iron bridge, in sight of the picturesque cliff and in full view of the beautiful Appalachee, the dividing line of the two counties of Morgan and Oconee, and Luncle Sam's mail bags are dropped off at the little station of "Appalachee." negro slaves in ante-bellum times, wh

"I was at Los Angeles and with five boon and adventuresome companions determined to go to a place called 'Portuguese Bend,' situated on a promontory about twenty-five miles away. It loomed up at least 800 feet above a little shaling station on the Pacific coast.

"We started out on Friday morning in Sep-tember to reach the 'Bend.' All were jolly and never dreamed of the privations in store for us. The first ten miles were all right. we had made less than two miles. Not a drop of water had we seen since our start. All men suffered greatly, as did the horses. Saturday night was passed in sleepless misory.

The next morning we were as lank, lean and parched as skeletons and yet no prospect of anything to slake our terrible thirst. All forenoon Sunday we searched in vain. I struck off into the mountains and wended my way up in a deep canyon whose towering walls seemed to pierce the very skies. Finally I got way up the deep canyon whose towering walls seemed to pierce the very skies. Finally I got way up the deep crack, as it were, in the mountains, when I plunged into a den of white owls. There seemed to be millions of the things, with their ghostly, fluttering wings. I was frightened almost into a fit before I got out of the terrible place.

"I was gone nearly all forenoon, but found no water. My companions had searched high and low for me. When I got back I was exhausted and compelled to lie down. I had considerable money with me, some of it being $20 gold pieces. I would willingly have given $100 for a drink of water. But no, not a drop could I get with all the gold I might command. It seemed that I suffered the most.

My companions carried me, the remainder of the afternoon, and along toward evening when the great sinking sun were shooting its lurid rays across the Pacific we came to Fortugese Bend and found water. O, what bliss. I never was so happy in all my life before. No man knows what thirst is unless he has experienced it. Hunger is nowhere in comparison."

THE MISSISSIPPI FLOODS.

The Reports of Disaster Not at Exaggerated.

New Orleans, March 16.—The Tim NEW ORLEANS, March 16.—The Times-Democrat Vicksburg special says: A personal visit made to Raleigh, or Pecan Grove, today, satisfied your correspondent that the report had not exaggerated the extent of damage by the floods. At 3 o'clock today the crevasse was 1,000 feet or more wide, and the ends were caving so rapidly that it was foolhardiness to approach them.

caving so rapidly that it was foothardness to approach them.

The levee is nearly fifteen feet high, and an iumanse volume of water was rushing through it in a stream two or more feet deep. The extent of the crevasse and the immense amount of water delivered by it may be estimated by the fact that in twenty-four hours ending this evening the river has fallen three inches at Vicksburg and four inches at Lake Providence, though rising steadily prior to the crevasse.

Assistant Engineer Thompson, who arrived at the crevasse this evening, is quoted as saying that no crevasse at any point along the line of the fifth levee district could occasion such serious results as the one at Raleigh. The water from the crevasse has backed up several inches and flooded some plantations. It will overflow fully one-fourth of East Carroll parish, and the greater part of Tensas and Madison parishes. The eastern Carroll parish, and the greater part of Tensas and Madison parishes. The eastern part of the latter will escape. Advices from the other Louisiana levees and from the Mississippi show that the crevasses relieved the pressure on them. The levee inspector, the solitary, witness of the break at Raleigh, says seventy-five feet of the levee caved off at once into the river.

Telephone message from Titlars, Miss., states that water fell eight inches in the past twenty-four hours. Henry Berger, of Duval, Miss., seeing some negro houses on the Louisiana shore floating away, crossed over in a skiff, avoiding the crevasse by pulling his boat over the levees, and reaching the house just in time to save a negro who was the house just in time to save a negro who was n one of the houses. CHURCHILL ON THE COMMISSION. He Still Talks Warmly Against the Im-policy of the Measure. LONDON, March 16. - Lord Randolph Churchill, publishing his original protest against the Parnell commission bill, says he fails to see how this, and his recent speech can be connow this, and his recent speech can be con-strued as disloyalty to the uniquist party. It seems to hiur that the charge of disloyalty might be more forcibly urged against those who, in spate of every warning, forced upon parliament a measure which, by its history and results, obviously dealt a heavy blow at the cause and the party of the union. He explains that when he sent his protest the commission bill was in embryo, and the government contemplated abandoning it, or at last withdrawing it, if it led to a protracted de-

Fight Over Local Improvements. CHATTANOGGA, Tenn., March 16.—[Special.] The election for $500,000 bonds for street pur-The election for $500,000 bonds for street purposes occurs March 26. Already the city is wild with excitement. The republican opponents to the bonds claim that the democracy is having the board of public works appointed by the governor, made the most stupendous political stroke ever made here. The city is now virtually in the hands of the democracy, a the police commission controls the police de-partment, and the board of public works re-lieves the board of aldermen of all street and sewer work. The bond opposition has issued a paper, and will continue it until the day of election. The probability is that bonds will carry by an overwhelming majority.

The New Officers.

RALEIGH, N. C., May 16.—[Special.]—The state convention of the Young Men's Christian association, in session at Wilmington, has elected the following officers to serve for the ensuing year: President, James R. Young, Henderson; first vice-president, James Southgate, Durham; second vice-president, Thomas R. Robinson; Goldbero; third vice-president, J. S. Kesler, Wakeforest; secretary, J. C. Stewart, Winston; first assistant secretary, J. C. Stewart, Winston; first assistant secretary, J. Nomman Willis, Greensboro; second assistant The New Officers.

CHICAGO, March 16.—William M. Craig.
confidential manager of C. L. Meyer & Sons' lumber company, is missing, and it is charged that the books of the company show irregularities on his part amounting to many thousands of dollars. The recent failure of Meyers & Sons, is said to have been due, in part at least, to Craig's operations. Craig has been speculating in real estate to the extent of nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

The Big Strike. London, March 16.—One hundred thousand men are out on a strike. Many owners are conceding the terms proposed by the meeting of the miners' delegates at Manchester on March 13th. By this compromise the men receive an advance of five per cent in wages now, and a similar advance in July next.

Taken Out and Shot. NASHVILLE, March 16.—At Gadsden, this state, at 3:30 today, Henry Williams, colored, was taken from jail by a mob and shot to death for attempting an assault on Miss Tinder, an aged white lady living near that place, on February 28th last.

Are the best menths in which to purify your blood, for at no other season does the system so much need the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla, as now. During the long, cold winter, the blood becomes thin and impure, the body becomes weak and tired, the appetite may be lost. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted to purify and enrich the blood, to create a good appetite and overcome that tired feeling. It has a larger sale than any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, and it increases in popularity every year, for it is the ideal

Spring Medicine

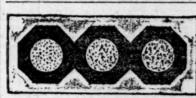

"Last spring I was sick; not sick enough to be confined to my bed, not well enough to attend to business. I preferred doing nothing. I had headache, roseola, a chill, bad cold and knots on my neck. I took several kinds of medicine, which did me no good, that I could see. Some one suggested that I try a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and it restored me to my usual health. I think Hood's Sarsaparilla a good preparation. I got more medicine, and it lasted longer than any similar compound I ever bought for the same money. P. Mustain, Horse Cave, Ky.

Dr. King's Royal Germetuer is founded upon the fact as promulgated by Professors Sedielat, Pasteur, Koch. Brandtlett, of Germany; Miquel, of France; Geoffray, the eminent Swede: De Geer and Bonnet, of Geneva; the French academy of sciency and other illustrious authorities, that "Disease germs (of which there are one hundred and sixty-five distinct species) may be not only alternated until nearly harmless, but may be re-vivified by degrees and given the most virulent character." Dr. McLahon says: "The contagious germs which lays low the physician, is just as particular as the bullet which kills a soldier." Frofessor Tyndal says: "Disease germs are found floating in the air, destroying man as well as beasts and vegetation." "Few people," says Professor Sedielat, "would believe that there is no man, woman or child, animal or vegetable, that is not more or less impregnated with these deadly germs." They often multiply with alarming rapidity—often by thousands every few minutes. These cause disease, which Royal Germetuer destroys, and at the same time it is a fine tonic for the weak and feeble. Germetuer removes the cause of the disease, and nature repairs the damage. Dr. King's Royal Germetuer moves the cause of the disease, and nature repairs the damage.

It is a positive cure for rheumatism, neuralgia, paralysis, indigestion, palpitation, headache, liver, bladder and kidney troubles, catarrh, asthma, bronchitis, incipient consumption, all blood and skin diseases, nervousness, insomnia, bowel troubles, debility, female diseases and irregularities, cancers and tumers, gastrices, etc. It builds up from the first dose, the patient quickly feeling its soothing, strengthening and health-giving influence. It makes no errors in diagnosis, and does not produce one disease while curing another. It is as palatable as lemonade, and cures when all else fails.

HONOR YOUR PARENTS. AN ELOQUENT SERMON BY REV. DE-WITT TALMAGE.

The Great Preacher Preaches at the Academy of Music to an Immense Audience -Parents Pride in Their Children. BROOKLYN, March 16 .- [Special.] The following sermon was preached this morning by Dr. Talmage in the Academy of Music, in which his church is worshipping during the rebuild-ing of the Brooklyn Tabernacle. and which will continue to be so occupied until that edifice is completed. After expounding a chapter describing Absalom's carriage toward his father David, and the singing of an appropriate hymn, Dr. Talmage announced as his text, the words, "A foolish son is the beaviness of his mother." Prov. 10:1. He

All parents want their children to turn out well. However poorly father and mother may have done themselves, they want their sons and daughters to do splendidly. Up to forty years of age parents may have ambitions for themselves after that their children in the state of the specific state. nselves; after that their chief ambitions are for their children. Some of the old-time names indicate this. The name of Abner means "his father's lamp." The name Abigail means "her father's joy." And what a parental delight was Solomon to David, and Samuel to Hannah, and Joseph to Jacob! And the best earthly staff that a father has to lean on is a good son, and the strongest arm mother has to help her down the steep of years is that of a grateful child. But it is not a rare thing to find people unfilial, and often the parents are thembefore querulous and snappy, and the children have their hands full with the old folks. Before entering my profession I was for three months what is called a colporteur. One day in the country districts I stopped at the house of a good, intelligent, genial farmer. The hospitality of such a country house is especially pleasing to me, for I was born in the coun-This farmer and his wife were hardworking people, but tried to make their home agreeable and attractive. The far-mer's father, about sixty-five years of age, and his grandfather, about minety, were yet alive and with him. Indeed, there were four generaand tions in the honse, for the farmer had little children playing about the room. We gathered at the dining table. After the blessing was asked, the farmer put some of the meat upon plate and courteously passed it to me, when his father of sixty-five years of age cried out to his son, who was at least thirty years of age: "Why do you not pass the meat as you always do, and let us take it off the plate ourselves? you are trying to show off because we have company." Meanwhile his grandfather of ninety sat with his hat on at the table, his face unclean, and his apparel untidy. Still the farmer kept his patience and equipoise, and I never think of him without admiration.

He must have had more grace than I ever had.

Because people are old they have no right to be either ungentlemanly or uncanny. There are old people so disagreeable that they have nearly broken up some homes. The young married man with whom the aged one lives, stands it because he has been used to it all his life, but the young wife, coming from another household, can hardly endure it, and sometimes almost cries her eyes out. And when little children gather in the house, they are afraid of the venerable patriarch who has forgotten that he ever was a child himself, and cannot understand why children should ever want to play "hide and seek," or roll hoop, or fly kite, anderstand why children should ever want to play "hide and seek," or roll hoop, or fly kite, and he becomes impatient at the sound from the nursery, and shouts with an expenditure of voice that keeps him coughing fifteen min-utes afterwards, "Boys! stop that racket!" as though any boy that ever amounted to any-thing in the world did not begin life by making a racket!

a racket! Indeed, there are children who owe nothing to their parents, for those parents have been profligates. My lamented friend, good and Christian and lovely Henry Wilson, vice-president of the United States, in early life changed his name. Henry Wilson was not his original name. He dropped his father's name because that father was a drunkard and name because that father was a drunkard and a disgrace, and the son did not feel called upon to carry such a carcass all his life. While children must always be dutiful, I sympathize with all young people who have disagreeable or unprincipled old folks around the house. Some of us drawing out of our memories, know that it is possible after sixty or savety or eights are drawing out of our memories, know that it is possible, after sixty or seventy or eighty or ninety years of age, for the old to be kind and genial; and the grandest adornment of a home is an aged father and mother, if the process of years has mellowed them. Besides that, if your old parents are hard to get along with now, you must remember that there was a time when they had hard work to get along with you. When you were about five or seven or ten or twelve years of age what a time they had with you! If you had kept a written account of your early pranks and misdoings, it would make a whole volume. That time when you gave your little sister a clip; that time when you explored the depth of a jar of sweet things for which you had no permission; that have you one day made with your jack-not hurt your name of John or George or Henry or Mary or Frances or Rachel, because there have been thousands of people, good and bad, having those names, and you cannot improve or depreciate the respectability of those names. But it is your last name, your family name, that is at your mercy. All who bear the name are bound, before God and man, not to damage its happy significance. You are charged, by all the generations of the past and all the generations to come, to do your share for the protection and the honor and the integrity of that name. You have no right, my young friend, by a bad life to blot the old family Bible containing the story of the marriages and births and deaths of the years gone by, or to cast a blot upon the family Bibles whose records are yet to be opened. There are in our American city directories names that always suggest commercial family Bibles whose records are yet to be opened. There are in our American city directones names that always suggest commercial dishonessy or libertinism or cruelty or meanness, just because one man or woman bearing that name cursed it forever by miscreancy. Look out how you stab the family name! It is especially dear to your mother. She was not born under that name. She was born under another name, but the years passed on and she came to young womanhood, and she saw some one with whom she could trust her happiness, her life, and her immortal destiny; and she took his name, took it while the orange blossoms were filling the air with fragrance, took it with joined hands, took it while the heavens witnessed. She choose it out of all the family sonis were filling the air with fragrance, took it with joined hands, took it while the heavens witnessed. She choose it out of all the family names since the world stood, chose it for better or worse, through sickness and through health, by cradles and by graves. Yea, she put off her old family name to take the family name you now wear, and she has done her part to make it an honorable name. How heavy a trouble you put upon her when, by misdeeds, you wrench that name from its high significance! To haul it down from your mother's forehead and trample it in the dust would be criminal. Your father's name may not be a distinguished name, but I hope it stands for something good. It may not be famous, like that of Homer, the father of epic poetry, or Izaak Walton, the father of angling, or Æschylus, the father of tragedy, or Ethelwold, the father of monks, or Herodotus, the father of history, or Thomas Aquinas, the father of the faithful, but your father has a name in a small circle as precious to him as theirs in a larger circle. Look out how you tarnish it!

Further, the recklessness and dissipation of a young man are a cause of parental distress at a time when the parent is less able to bear it. The vicissitudes of life have left their imit. The vicusitudes of fife have left their impression upon those parents. The eye is not as clear as once, nor the hearing as acute, nor the nerves as steady, nor the step as strong, and with the tide of incoming years comes the weight of unfilial behavior. You take your weight of unfilal behavior. You take your parents at a great disadvantage, for they cannot stand as much as they once could. They have not the elasticity of feeling with which once they could throw off trouble. That shoulder, now somewhat bent, cannot bear as heavy a burden as once it could. At the time when the machinery is getting worn out you put burden as once it could. At the time when the machinery is getting worn out you put upon it the most terrific strain. At sixty and seventy years the vitality is not so strong as at thirty or forty. Surely they are descending the down grade of life swiftly enough without your increasing the momentum. They will be gone soon enough without your pushing them away. Call in all the doctors who ever lived since Hippocrates raised medicine from a superstition to a science, and they could not cure the heartbreak of a mother over her ruined boy. There may be; as some suppose, enough herbs on earth, if discovered, to cure all the ailments of the body; but nothing save a leaf from the tree of the heavenly Paradise can cure a wound made by a foolish son who is the heaviness of his mother.

Perhaps it is a good thing that cruel treat-

Perhaps it is a good uning that crue teachement by a child abbreviates a parent's life; for what is there desirable in a father's life or a mother's life if its peace is gone? Do you not think death is something beneficent if it stops the mother's heart from aching and her eyes from weeping, and says: "You need not longer any longer any longer any longer any longer." the mother's heart from aching and her eyes from weeping, and says: "You need not bear the exeruciation any longer. Go and sleep. I will put the defense of a marble slab between you and that boy's outrages. Go now where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest? At the departure of such mothers let the music be an anthem instead of a dirge. While you and I hear no sound, yet there are at this moment tens of thousands of parental hearts breaking. hear no sound, yet there are at this moment tens of thousands of parental hearts breaking. All care was taken with the boy's schooling, all good counsels given, and the equipment for a sober and earnest and useful life was pro-yided, but it has all gone, and the foolish son vided, but it has all gone, and the foolish son has become the heaviness of his mother.

Much of the poignancy of the parental grief arises from the ingratitude of such behavior. What an undertaking it is to conduct a family through the ailments and exposures of early life. Talk about the skill demanded of a scacaptain commanding a ship across the ocean!

That requires less skill than to navigate a young soul in safety across the infantile and boyhood years. The sicknesses that assault, the temptations that entrap, the anxieties that are excited! Young man, you will never know what your mother has suffered for you. You have been in all their thoughts, in all sin step years of age, for the old to be kind angediather and mother, if the process of special control of the grandest adometer in the state of the years of age what a time when they had had work to get along with now, you must remember that there was a time when they had had work to get along with now you must remember that there was a time when they had written as the state of the part of the par You have been in all their thoughts, in all

you. Better go right away, for she will be dead before long. And how will you feel then after you realize it is your waywardness that killed her? Romulus made no law dead before long. And how will you feel then after you realize it is your waywardness that killed her? Romulus made no law against patricide, or the slaying of a father, matricide or the slaying of a mother, because he considered such crimes impossible, and for six hundred years there was not a crime of that sort in Rome. But then came Lucius Ostius, and slew his father, proving the crime possible. Now, do you not think that the child who by wrong behavior sends his father to a premature grave is a patricide, or who by misconduct hastens a mother into the tomb is a matricide?

The heaviness of parents over a son's depravity is all the greater because it means spiritual disaster and overthrow. That is the worst thing about it. In the pension regulations a soldier receives for loss of both hands or feet $72. For loss of one hand and one foot $36. For loss of a hand or foot $30. For loss of both eyes $72. But who can calculate the value of a whole man ruined body, mind and soul? How can parents have any happiness about your future destiny, oh young man gone astray? Can such opposite lives as you and they are living come out at the same place? Can holiness and dissipation enter the same gate? Where is the little prayer that was taught you at your mother's knee? Is the God they loved and worshipped your God? It is your soul about which they are most anxious, your soul that shall live after the earth itself shall be girdled with flames, and the flames, dying down, will leave the planet only a live coal, and the live coal shall have become ashes, and then the ashes shall be scattered by the whirlwinds of the Almighty.

"But," says some young mans "my mother is gone; my behavior will not trouble her any more.

"Oh that those lips had language! Life has passed With me but roughly since I heard thee last."

"On that those lips had language! Life has passed With me but roughly since I heard thee last."

What! Is she dead? How you startle me! Is she dead? Then perhaps you have her picture. Hang it up in your room in the place where you oftenest look. Go and study her features, and while you are looking the past will come back, and you may hear her voice, which is now so stili, speak again, saying: "From my heavenly home, my dear boy, I solicit your reformation and salvation. Go to the Christ who pardoned me, and He will par-"From my heavenly home, my dear boy, I solicit your reformation and salvation. Go to the Christ who pardoned me, and He will pardon you. My heaven will not be complete till I hear of it right away, for there is joy up here where one sinner repenteth; and oh, if the next news of that kind that comes up here might come up regarding you, oh my child of many tears and anxieties and prayers! Come, my boy, do you not hear your mother's voice? O my son, my son, would God that I could die for thee! O my son, my son! Young man! what news for heaven would be your conversion. Swifter than telegraphic wire ever carried congratulations to a wedding or a coronation would fly heavenward the news of your deliverance; and whether the one most interested in your salvation were on river-bank, or in the temple, or on the battlement, or in the great tower, the message would be instantly received, and before the service is closed angel would cry to angel: "Have you heard the received, and before the service is closed angel would cry to angel: "Have you heard the news? Out yonder is a mother who has just heard of her wayward boy's redemption. An-other prodigal has got home. The dead is alive again, and the lost is found. Hallelujah!

'Tis True, 'Tis Pity. Pity 'Tis, 'Tis True. More than two thirds of our sick folks are treated by ignorant and unskillful physicians, and were it not for the wonderful recuperative power of nature, a much larger proportion would be hurried prematurely into the grave on account of erroneous treatment. People are mostly themselves to blame. They are a long time getting sick, but demand immediate relief. So for dyspepsia and indigestion the doctor prescribes a cathartic pill, for an acidulated stomach, some alkali, for pain, some hot liminent, for sleeplessness, some narcotic, for skin diseases some external ointment, and so might erroneous treatment be enumerated to skin diseases some external ointment, and so might erroneous treatment be enumerated to greater length, but enough it is to show the doctor aims to give quick temporary relief, without hope or expectation of any permanent good. Now, nine times out of ten dyspepsia, weak stomach, aches, pains, sleeplessness, nervousness, skin diseases, etc., owe their origin to a state of defective given lating and blood gin to a state of defective circulation and blood impurity, and the use of that scientific remedy invented by the eminent Dr. John Bull, of Louisville, Ky., would effect a permanent cure. It is called Dr. Bull's Sarsaparilla. De-mand it of your druggist. Take no other.

Phenomenal Weather.

Our exceptionally mild winter will, perhaps, be followed by a remarkable summer. A correspondent calls our attention to the summer of 1816, and predicts similar weather for the coming season. In the year referred to, January and February were mild, March was cold, and April opened warm, but ended in snow and sleet. In May ice formed an inch thick, and crops were planted again and again until it was too late to replant. June was cold, frost and ice being common in New York. Every green thing was killed, and fruit was destroyed nearly everywhere. In the northern states snow fell to the depth of several inches. There was little rain during the summer, and a cold wind blew steadily from the north. The only good crop of corn produced in Massachusetts had fires built around it every night to ward off the frost. The Mississippi rose to an unusual height, and did considerable damage in the low country. Frost and ice made their appearance in July and August was still more severe. Ice formed half an inch thick. Corn froze in the field, and had to be cut and dried for fodder. The farmers were forced to rely upon the corn of the previous year, and its price advanced to four and five dollars per bushel.

It was observed during this strange summer that the sun's rays seemed to give out no heat. People were very gloomy over the outlook, and predictions were freely made that the end of the world was at hand.

Of course the weather prophets can pre dict a repetition of the summer of 1816, if they feel so inclined. But there is nothing more unreliable than such predictions. Within the past few years DeVoe and Wiggins have run their course and dropped out of sight, and their successor, Irl Hicks, has made so many bad guesses this winter, that people are losing faith in him.

After all, it makes very little difference in the long run. We are tolerably certain to get our share of sunshine, and the world will manage to jog along after a fashion. It will be time enough to grumble about bad weather when it coms.

Georgia Railroads.

The time has been when the towns had to move to the railroads, but now, railroad building in the south, and especially in Georgia, makes this unnecessary and has reversed the rule. The railroads are going to the towns, one after the other, and ere the last spike is driven on one, another is spoken of. There has been great rejoicing over the completion of the Columbus Southern, and now they are talking of a branch road from some point in southwest Georgia to Florida. One of the officials of the Columbus Southern spent a day in Dawson last week, and stated that he believed the road would be built soon, and that Dawson would get it.

This railroad building has infused new life into our Georgia towns, and the growth of many of them during the past year has been phonomenal. At the mere mention of a railroad coming their way they put on an air of prosperity, and business grows brisk, and when the road reaches them, they seen to grow beyond recognition in a few months.

Three years ago Georgia had the reputation, with outsiders, of building roads on paper only, and many were the jokes enjoyed at her expense, but she has proved by her activity in railroad affairs that she meant business, and now the laugh is all one way: Now, when they see even the smallest town in Georgia mapping out a railroad, they look on in respectful silence; for the past is before them, and they can hear the whistle of the engines in every breeze that comes from the wilderness!

The New Republican Crusade.

It is the opinion of Congressman Crisp, of Georgia, and his views in this matter tally with those of other close observers, that political prejudice against the south on the part of the average republicans is unusually bitter. This is the result partly of the attitude of the Harrison administration, which is swayed by purposes ineffably mean and narrow, and partly of the necessities of the republicans, who feel that if their control of the government cannot be perpetuated by foul means their cause is lost

Taken altogether, the political situation has not been so interesting in years. To those who enjoy the picturesque and surprising, it seems to be full of promise, and even the ordinary and commonplace observer will find much in it to pique his curiosity and challenge his attention. The republican automaton is at work with all its machinery exposed, and in the rear the illumninatedand beautiful figures of Quay and Dudley working at the bellows.

There seems to be no doubt that an attempt is to be made to revive the confusion and strife of the reconstruction period, and all the republicans in congress are working to this end. A part of this programme consists in the appointment of negro officials in the south in the hope that the irritation produced will result in race conflicts and collisions. The race collisions are absolutely necessary to the success of the republican scheme, for in the absence of such an excuse partisan legislation will not seem to be either reasonable or timely.

That Mr. Harrison is appointing negro officials in the south for the benefit and encouragement of the race is not to be sup-If this were so he would appoint negroes to office at the north and in communities where their appointment would give satisfaction to the public. They are placed in office in the south for the purpose of inciting thoughtless and unruly whites to make contributions to the republican cam paign fund in the shape of "outrages."

But what is to be the effect of this new crusade against the south? The northern people may be beguiled with the idea that it is merely an effort on the part of patriotic republicans to improve the condition of the negro-to insist that he is accorded the right to vote and to see that his vote is counted; but, as a matter of fact, the whole movement is in behalf of negro domination, and is an attack on the progress, and prosperity of the south.

The situation in the south is materially different from what it was in reconstruction times. The republican party is no longer powerful enough to repeat the disastrous experiment of negro rule, but its efforts in that direction are certain to lead to trouble. There are elements here, as there would be at the north under similar circumstances that are externely difficult to control, and, under the pressure of republican force bills and sectional legislation, confusion and demoralization would certainly result. The material progress and prosperity of the south would be destroyed for the time being, her development would be arrested and her new industries would be paralyzed.

The south is prepared for any attempt the republicans may make in the direction of negro domination, but are the northern people who are interested in the progress and development of this section prepared for the inevitable result that will follow such an attempt? Are the northern capitalists who have invested their money here willing to submit to the effects of the new political crusade?

Northern Men in the South.

Editor Glessner, of the Americus Recorder, who has done and is doing a great deal for the development of Georgia, indorces the suggestion of THE CONSTITUTION that the northern people who have settled in the south hold a convention for the purpose of putting on record a true statement of the situation in this section.

Mr. Glessner, who came to the south from Ohio several years ago, and who is thoroughly identified himself with every practical movement looking to the development of Georgia's resources, readily perceives the good that such a convention would do. He says:

The importance of such a convention at this time cannot be overestimated. There are thousands of people in the north who are looking to ward the south as a place of residence and in-vestment. Many of them, of ample means, hav-ing reached middle life, and secured a competency, are anxious to prolong their lives and secure greater comfort by removing to a milder climate Many of them, of medium means, see no chance of bettering their financial condition in a country where there is so much competition and land so high. They have been deterred from settli and investing in the south by the stories that have been published in partisan papers, repre-senting the south to be a section where lawlessness prevailed and life and property were unsafe and especially that a free expression of political opinion would not be tolerated.

The southern people have denied these false charges time and again, but with people who quainted with them these denials were of little effect. A denial of these charges by northern men who have moved south naturally have more weight with northern people and would largely remove the prejudice which has been engendered by partisan papers and poli-ticians. The voice of northern settlers, through an organized convention, would have a wonderful potency in opening the eyes of the people of the north to the true state of affairs in the south, nd would greatly aid our efforts in inducing in migration

Mr. Glessner amends THE CONSTITU-TION'S proposition by suggesting that the convention to be held in Atlanta be composed only of northern men who have settled in Georgia, other states holding similar conventions. The suggestion is a good one. A convention of northern men in each southern state would greatly simplify matters, and these conventions speaking to the people of the north, would have a tremendous effect on the public sentiment of that section.

Let the northern men in the south meet in their respective states and speak out. Stanley's Work.

In a letter written to a friend in this country Explorer Stanley says: "The end crowns the work," did I say on Dereunited parted families; I have rescued those who were in sore straits; I have borne the and aged and placed them in their loved land of Egypt; I have brought the beleaguered governor out of his threatened bondage. Wherefore, as these were the aims of the work, and they have been accomplished, I say, "the end crowns the True, I am blanched and white. But what matters it? I have naught to regret, and if any mission of like nature presented itself I should still wish to do it, for, whether here or there, life stays not, but rushes on apace, and men must work and strive, but let us do it bravely and fitly with all our strength."

Nothing to regret! Stanley and his men killed hundreds of blacks who believed that they were defending their country from the invasion of an enemy. The rescue of the 'beleagured governor' is all bosh. Emin was very well satisfied where he was. He did not want to leave his province and go to the coast, and after making the trip under the pressure of force, he at once signified his intention of returning without unnecessary

Stanley has proved himself an able and daring commander, but he is very far from being the hero that his fancy paints. He may boast as much as he pleases about saving Emin, but the fact sticks out that the man did not need saving, did not want to be saved, and was better off without Stanley than with him.

Concerning Local Government. At a recent social science convention in Philadelphia, Professor Patton read a strong paper on "The Decay of State and Local Government." The professor regards the weakening vi tality of local and state government as a bad sign. It causes the loss of local independence. Instead of utilizing the powers of the states there is a disposition to nationalize local issues, and the general government is called upon for legislation in matters which should be regulated by states and cities. The fathers of the republic did not look forward to such a state of affairs. They set definite limits to national power, believing that each state would continue to be a center of political power and life. Through some defect in our system the general government has encroached dangerously upon the states. Professor Patton believes that our states are too large to fulfill the proper functions of local government. His idea is to have a state consist of one homogeneous people having common social ideas and industrial activities. He is also in favor of free cities. The separation of the large cities from the states would be thinks, elevate the political tone of the courty, reduce the power of na-tional parties at lead to greater purity in our city governments. Local interests create a necessity for local autonomy. The revival of the doctrine of home rule or local government is progressing rapidly nong thoughtful citizens in the north. people of that region once firmly upheld the state sovereignty idea, but their crusade against the south caused them to drift away from it. Since the war the eastern states have been compelled to recognize the fact that their political power is on the wane, and they now clamor for home rule. It is more than likely that in the next generation the strongest advocates of state sovereignty will be found in New England and the middle states. The revival of these old ideas shows their powerful vitality. They have a perma-and foresight of Jefferson and Calhoun. NORTHERN people whe rush through the south on railroad trains appear to know more about the situation here than anybody. Especially if they happen to be correspondents of acceptance will yet vindicate the wisdom

According to all accounts, the republicans in congress are as bitter against the south now as they were just after the war.

THE bill taxing compound lard out of the market will pass if the south doesn't make its influence felt in an energetic way. The mere statement that the southern farmers, white and black, are against the bill will not do Bare statements will not prevail against the lobby that the "refined" lard capitalists have on the ground.

I scolded him and he raised his hand, not to hit me, judge, but just to push me away, and I turned around quick and my eyes came in contact with his fist. He did not mean it, judge. Please let him go. From the time I hurt my eye for a week I kept my tongue on him. I kept at him all the time I was awake, and he thought if I kept it up he had better be dead, and he tried to kill himself. He is a good man and never loses a day's work, and is the father of four little children." Mrs. Dempsey began to cry when she had finished her pleading "If I let him go will you promise not to nag him any more?" asked the justice. "Yes, yes, yes, said Mrs. Dempsey, drying her eyes, "I will never, never say a cross word to him." Dempsey was af-fected by this and tears came to his eyes, too. 'You are discharged," said the justice.

A Curious Prophecy.

In August, 1857, the Bayarian Allgemeine Zei tung printed a remarkable prophecy, which had been made by an old hermit many years before. In it the rise of Napoleon III was clearly outlined, as were also the Austro-Prussian and the Franco-Prussian wars and the commune of Paris. He told how the death of Pope Pius would occur i 1876 or 1877, and how it would be followed by a Turko-Russian war, being but slightly wrong in either prediction.

He said that Germany would have three em perors in one year before the end of the century, which was verified to the letter. He missed it one, at least, in the number of United States presidents that were to die by assassination, which was remarkably close, to say the least.

He said that when the twentieth century opened Manhattan island and the whole of New York city would be submerged in the waters of the Hudson, East river and the bay; Cuba will break in two, and the west half and the city of Havana find a watery resting place.

Florida and Lower California are to break loo from the main land and carry their load of human freight to the bottom of the sea.

The twenty-fifth is to be the last of the United States presidents, and Ireland is to be a kingdom and England a republic by the end of the century. The United States are to be divided, and San Francisco, Salt Lake City, New Orleans, St. Louis Washington and Boston are to be made capitals There should be some consolation to the Moin this, if not for the other parts of our Patrolmen Jim Lackey and Newborn have discovered a valuable dog.

A few nights ago they saw a black dog with eilow legs, enter a coal yard near Phillip's row, over on West Mitchell street.

In a few minutes they saw the dog come ont with a large lump of coal in his mouth and trot off up the street. They followed him to the home of his master, where the dog went around to the back door and scratched for admittance. When the door was opened the dog disappeared inside, carrying the piece of piffered coal with him.

Down on Wheat street there is a white dog that has been taught to steal chickens and carry them home; but the black coal the foor the coal black thief, is a new wrinkle to the blice.

ODD FELLOWS MEET

THE GRAND SIRE AND DEPUT

They Are Entertained by the Local Lodges and Interesting Exercises Are Held at . the Opera House Last Night.

Yesterday was a notable day for Atlanta Odd Fellows.

The two highest officials of the order were their henored guests.

Grand Sire J. C. Underwood, and Deputy Grand Sire C. M. Buzbee, arrived in the city on the 11 o'clock Air Line train. They are on their way to Pensacola, Fla. and are making a tour of general inspection throughout the south. At 10 o'clock yesterday morning the mem bers of the various lodges of Odd Fellows of th city assembled at Odd Fellow's hall on Ala-bama and Whitehall streets, to receive the distinguished visitors.

Several hundred in full regalia marched to the depot to meet the grand sire and deputy grand sire on their arrival. They formed in column of twos in front of the er trance to the depot, and when the guests appeared in charge of the special committee ap-pointed to receive them at the train, the lines arted, allowing them to pass down the center to the head of the column.

Grand Sire Underwood and Deputy Grand Sire Buzbee, along with whom was also Grand Patriarch of Georgia William Pittman, of Athens, who joined them at Lulu, were escorted from the depot to Odd Fellows' hall.

There an informal welcome was extended them, both the grand sire and deputy grand re responding in pleasant and fitting terms. After this greeting by the assembled Odd Fellows in their hall, the visitors were taken to the Kimball house, where they were enter tained by the members of the order inform-Opera House Exercises. In the evening at half-past seven o'clock ex ceedingly interesting exercises were held at DeGive's opera house.

The house was well filled with Odd Fellows and their friends, many of the Odd Fellows wearing their regalia. Mayor Glenn, who is a member of the order presided at the meeting. The programme of speaking was prefaced by several appropriate

Seated on the stage, besides Grand Sire Un derwood, Deputy Grand Sire Bugbee, Grand Patriarch Pittman, Mayor Glenn and the other speakers were a committee composed of a delegation from the different lodges of the order in the city all decorated with their regalia.

The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Lee, after which Mayor Glenn made a few appropriate remarks, introducing Hon. John B. Goodwin. Mayor Glenn said the visitors were the two biggest Odd Fellows in the world and bade them a hearty welcome the world and bade them a hearty welcome in behalf of the city. He assured them that Odd Fellowship in Atlanta was keeping pace with the wonderful growth of the city in other ways, saying that they appreciated highly having among them their honored grand sire and deputy grand sire. ADDRESS OF WELCOME.

Grand Representative John B. Goodwin addressed the distinguished Odd Fellows, welcoming them on behalf of the order in Atlanta and on behalf of the friends of the lanta and on behalf of the friends of the order.

Mr. Goodwin said that Atlanta had been Mr. Goodwin said that Atlanta had been honored with many distinguished visitors, with conventions and assemblies, and the citi-zeus had taken great pleasure in according to them a cordial welcome, but never had a co them a cordial welcome, but never had a community, especially a community of Odd Fellows, received a more cordial welcome than was extended the honored guests of the evening, the grand sire and the deputy grand sire of the sovereign grand lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

He was glad to have them in Atlanta—glad to have them areas the Atlanta—glad to have them areas the Atlanta.

to have them among the Atlanta Odd Fellows, and glad to have the privilege of listening to the story of Odd Fellowship from the official heads.

Colonel Goodwin referred to the standing

Colonel Goodwin referred to the standing and progressiveness of the order in Atlanta, there being six active lodges here with a patriarchal branch. He said that the public mind was now more favorably disposed to Odd Fellowship than ever before.

"Only once before," said Colonel Goodwin, "have we had the honor of having in our midst at the same time, both the grand sire and the deputy grand sire—the two official heads of the order in the world. That other time was in 1874, when the sovereign grand lodge held its meeting here.

"That is why," he continued, "this day is an epoch in the history of our Odd Fellowship. As a part of the great family we appreciate it."

ate it."

Colonel Goodwin, as an illustration of the welcome which the Odd Fellows accorded the visitors, compared the return of a father or a mother to their family after an interval of separation, and then to the loving reception of the venerated old grandsire, as the little ones crowd about him and welcome him as only a grandsire can be velcomed. grandsire can be welcomed.

In concluding his address Colonel Goodwin said that in Odd Fellowship no name was better known than that of Underwood, and that among Georgians he was peculiarly held in esteem. It was he who had placed in nomination, on the floor of the grand lodge, the name of Luther J. Glenn, the only representative the state had ever had at he head of the order. He also said that in August the grand sire and deputy grand sires would come through Atlanta again to attend the grand encampment of all the lodges in Savannah, where they would be welcomed by the assembled Odd Fellows of the state.

GRANDSIRE UNDERWOOD'S ADDESS.

assembled Odd Fellows of the state.

GRANDSIRE UNDERWOOD'S ADDRESS.

In presenting Grand Sire Underwood, Mayor Glenn took occasion to refer to the great importance and power of the high position which he held. He said that he issued orders in English, French, German, Italian, Spanish, Russian, Japanese, and all languages of the earth. And they were obeyed. He was a big man. No other person in the world could do such a thing that he knew of, except the pope.

such a thing that he knew of, except the pope.

Mr. Underwood's address was one of the finest that an Atlanta audience has had the pleasure of listening to in many a day. It was chaste and eloquent, sparkling with flashes of humor of the most exquisite kind—humor that refreshed and interested, yet only made the theme even more interesting.

Mr. Underwood is a man of national promnence. He filled the gubernatorial chair of Kentucky with ability and honor, and as a speaker has few superiors in eloquence. In Odd Fellowship he is a most earnest and enthusiastic worker, and throughout the civilized world his name and authority are recognized and respected.

ized world his name and authority are recog-nized and respected.

Grand Sire Underwood, in opening his ad-dress last night, said that the order of Odd Fel-lows had the right to meet on Sunday. They were Christians, and their doctrines were based upon Christianity and the church. One of the very first requirements was that a member acknowledge the ex-istence of Almighty God. None who did not profess their faith were admitted within the order, though it was not required that they be members of any church or conform to any particular creed. Hence, as a band of Christains—the grandest aid to the church in the world—they had the right to come together on Sunday and hear an expounding of the principles upon which the order was founded—principles of humanity and brotherly Jove.

He referred to his close friendship with Luther J. Glenn, and said that that friendship would be continued to his son, Mayor Glenn, and stay by him until the bounds of the city of Atlanta should extend to the borders of the state and he become its chief executive.

executive.

"Odd Fellowship," said Grand Sire Underwood, "is not an order of self-advertisement. The good that it accomplishes is done in secret. Every good act is not heralded abroad and crowned with a monument."

In speaking of Atlanta he said that he would not call it the gate city, but the centra city, the jewel of the south. He predicte that the south, in its wonderful riches. would avaloue with the contraction of the south. develop and pour tribute into the gate of Atlanta until it would be the central gem of the industrial south, with its millions of in habitants. Nature had blessed her with an unbounded mineral richness, with a fertile soil and an incomparable climate, making natural the accomplishment of that end, wonderful

Of Odd Fellowship and the grand order which he had the honor of being the official head, he said:

"And what is this order of ours? It's an order to care for the sick—and does it. order to care for the sick—and does it. To close the eyes of the dead—and does it. To care for the widow and orphan—and does it. To help a brother in distress—and does it. To teach and practice brotherly love—and does it. An order to make good citizens—and does it. The lodges are the best schools in the world. They teach the young man respect to his seniors and deference to the sages. The principles of fraternity are instilled into him from the start—friendship and what is due his neighbor and fellow man.'

ms neighbor and fellow man."

Mr. Underwood said that while he was governor of Kentucky, he sat up with and closed the eyes in death of his barber, an Odd Fellow. "That," he said, "is what Odd Fellowship teaches." "That," he said, "is what Oud renowship teaches. In churches every Sunday collections are taken up, and pennies and nickels and dimes and sometimes dollars are dropped in the box for the widow and orphan. Every night in the Odd Fellow lodge rooms something is given to the WIDOW AND THE ORPHAN.

They are taught from the beginning to help.

WIDOW AND THE ORPHAN.

They are taught from the beginning to help the destitute and care for the husbandless and fatherless. And when a call is made the Odd Fellow drops in his dollar. It is practical, the teachings of the order.

'Odd fellowship begins at home. But it tallows into the church and the counting follows into the church and the counting house as well. It is the example. It teaches forbearance in little things as well as in great ones."

In illustrating the practical benefits of the order, the speaker referred to a case where a member died in Switzerland. The lodge there provided for him during his sickness and buried him when he was dead. Afterward the lodge drew on the order in Ohio, the home of the dead man, for the money paid on his account. Part of it was refunded, but now there is a discussion about the remainder. The matter will son about the remainder. The matter will probably be referred to him for settlement. If he finds that the Switzerland lodge is just in it demands, the charter of the Ohio lodge will be called in unless the amount is refunded.

unless the amount is refunded.

WANTED—MEN.

"We want good men in the order, not merely the men who have worn the knees out of their pantaloons, praying, but blacksmiths, hod carriers, men who have good, honest hearts and purposes in their breasts. Not merely lawyers, doctors, or judges, but all who are brave enough to act the Odd Fellow at home. It was not worth while to get unfit men in the order, for they would be best out."

Grand Sire Underwood gave an account of the Johnstown disaster. When he read of the loss of the fives and the destitution of a large loss of the fives and the destitution of number of Odd Fellows, he telegraphed to the grand representatives of all the states, merely directing them to forward any contributions to John B. Nicolson. No appeal was made. In less than a month $62,000 was sent in. The Odd Fellows were the first on the scene of the catastrophe, giving the first time $30,000 in cash to the widows and or-time $30,000 in cash to the widows and orphans of the Johnstown sufferers.

In closing, Mr. Underwood told how he became a member of the order, saying that his and Mr. Buzbee's election to the chief executive offices, both being rebel soldiers, and representing a constitutency of about one-twentieth of the order was one of the strongest evidences of the good work of Odd Fellewship in promoting fraternal relations not only among members, but of the veterans. but of the veterans.

He said he was a prisoner of war ln '63 when the souverign grand lodge held its meeting in Boston. At that meeting places were set apart for those delegates from Georgia, Tennessee and all the southern states, just the same as i their representative had been present. When their representative had been present. When the roll was called Alabama was called first. The newspapers got hold of this, and ran it as a joke. In this way the Odd Fellows and their action came to his notice, and he determined to join the order if he ever got out of prison. He did both. Twenty-two years later he was in Boston at the grand demonstration of the order, when the city was turned over to the Odd Fellows, and 20,000 of them were in line. Nineteen-twentieth of them were yankees. But who commanded them on that great occasion, when the chief executive of the city and his staff stood all day while the line moved by. Who was in command? He—the rebel soldier who, twenty-two years before, had been a war prisoner there.

"That was the teaching of Odd Fellowship," he said. It had done more than any other single agent or order to bind the north and south together after the war.

single agent or order to bind the north and south together after the war.

After Grand Sire Underwood took his seat, Deputy Grand Sire Busbee was introduced by Mayor Glenn.

He made a short address, which was listened to with attention. The deputy grand sire is an eloquent speaker. He spoke on the order as it related to every day life, as it was an aid to the Christian and the grand results it had accomplished in the amelioration of the condition of humanity.

It was a splendid address, rich in beautifully expressed sentiments and full of encouragement and commendation to the members of the order who listened to it.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

How it Will be Observed in Ireland Today. St. Patrick's day will be observed today by the celebration of high mass in the Church of the Immaculate Conception at 9 a. m., when Rev. Father Shadewell will preach upon the life and work of the great saint, who, under the commission of Pope Celestin, brought the Irish race within the pale of Christendom. The members of the Hibernian society will attend in a body. In the evening there will be a gathering of the members of the Hibernian society in the hall over Lowry's bank. The members of the Emmett club will be the guests of the Hibernians. Speeches will be delivered by Hon. Clark Howell and Hon. James F. O'Neill. The time will be passed socially and the friendships of a year will be cemented

The Hibernian society is now one of the oldest organizations in the city. It has a benechief feature which makes membership valuable. For over twenty years the late Hon. John H. Flynn was president, and since his death Mr. Timothy Burke has held the chair. He resigns it now, however, in order tha others may have an opportunity of sharing the honors of the society. Who his successor will be is not yet known, but there is an abundance

A LITTLE HAIR TRUNK.

SOME STRANGE VICISSITUDES OF THE MASCOT OF

The Baggage Room-Several Times Sent t Ladies by Mistake and Many Times Sold for the Benefit of the Poor.

A little old hair trunk.

Did you ever see one? If not, you don't know just how many pleas ant recollections a sight of this little recep tacle for odds and ends and travellers' effect brings up. Nearly every old plantation pro-prietor had one under his bed, in the palmy days of plantation life in the south, but they are disappearing rapidly now.

This trunk is a treasured relic, and is the mascot of the baggage room.

About five years ago the little trunk arrived, with a check numbered 2988, and was stowed away among the other big trunks in the bag-For days, weeks and months, it remained here, awaiting the claimnant that never came

The lock was broken, and the trunk was tied with a piece of rope about as big as a plow After awhile it began to be a familar object around the baggage room in the union passen-ger depot. It is only about two feet long, and is a regulation hair trunk, being overed with raw hide, the hair side out, and nside the lid appears the card of the makers:

> SMITH HALSEY, Firm of Halsey & Utter) MAKERS OF TRUNKS, HIDE TRUNKS A SPECIALTY.

The card is pasted inside the lid and is yelow with age, indicating that the trunk makers have long since passed over to the great majority. When the great meeting of baggage masters occurred in Atlanta, one of the baggage mas ters was the happy husband of a blushing bride.

So soon as this young lady had been assigned to her room she sent down after her elegan Saratoga.
Somebody had changed the checks.

The little hair trunk went up the Kimball ouse elevator instead of the Saratoga. Of course there was tableau vivant!

The irate husband offered a reward for the nan who changed the checks, and the bride lifted her dainty foot and gave it such a kick that even the callous skin of the hair trunk shuddered. Down at the baggageroom there were been and sandwiches in honor of the joke. When the convention of passenger agents ame south and visited St. Augustine, the lit Laong" that night. But the boys caught on, and the trunk was sold at auction. It brought a large sum, the proceeds being turned over to a charitable institution. They carried it up and down the St. John's river with them, selling it and reselling it, day after day, until the amount realized was over $1,000.

Finally, it arrived at its old quarters, and was carefully deposited beyond the reach of the sacreligious hands of the baggage smash-Yesterday afternoon Mr. Make Sharp, Mr.

John Colvin, and a Constitution reporter met by appointment and decided to explore the mysteries of-The little hair trunk. The rope was unbound and the lid lifted. Inside were revealed a family Bible; a treatise on skin and blood diseases; a copy of James Hogg's works; a patent office report; several railroad schedules; a box of Cuticura; a pair of old-time brass candle-snuffers; a deer's leg bone rifle charger for powder; a turkey wing bone turkey yelper; a spool of silk and several of cotton thread; several kinds of soap; a copy of the Gospel of St. John; a copy of Ray's Practical Arithmetic, and— A bottle labeled "poison." The bottle is about a two ounce vial onethird full of a clear liquid, labeled with a death head and cross bones, with the word poison in big letters. It was filled by "James

M. Long, apothecary, No. 86 Broadway, Paducah, Ky." ducah, Ky."

After an inventory of the contents was carefully made the various articles were repacked, the rope tied and the little hair trunk returned to its place on the rack. There is a mystery about the trunk.

Who owned it? Did he lose it? Did he commit suicide? Was he robbed and murdered? The more you think about it the more you re puzzled. The mystery may be unravelled, and-

It may not.
Probably it will not.

But what is it?

THE OKEFEENOKEE SWAMP. The Bids Will be Opened in Public Next Tuesday Morning.

On Tuesday next the state will sell both the old capitol building and the Okefeenokee swamp. The provisions for the sale of the swamp are the same as they were when the former at-tempt to dispose of the property was made. All the bids will be handed in sealed, and when the clock strikes ten on the morning of the 18th, Governor Gordon will open the envelopes in public and make the contents known.

The main object of those who bid seems to be to remain unknown until the last moment. Six bids were made at the former attempt to sell the property. sell the property; of these two have been with-drawn. They may, however, be renewed; some new offers may also be made.

Mr. Martin, from Michigan, has spent much time during the past two days at the capitol, looking into the Okefeenokee swamp, and it seems probable that he will be a bidder. Mr. Martin has with him a friend who has recently visited the swamp and has penetrated it in every direction. He does not paint an alluring picture of the desolate region.

Though the town of Cordele is only two years old, says she, it has been celebrated for years. The ground on which the town is built was once the plantation of Governor J. E. Brown, and it was here that he sought refuge with his family during the last year of the war. The old farm house still stands, but alas! the renovating hand of progress has marked the day for its destruction. By next winter, on this very site, a large modern hotel of 200 rooms will invite northern visitors to its sheltering roof, where they may breathe the balm tering roof, where they may breathe the balm of the pines and bathe in the glory of Cordelian sunshine. As I looked at the old historic homestead I felt that it was a pity to remove it. It should be preserved to consider general homestead I felt that it was a pity to remove it. It should be preserved to coming generations for memory's sake, for in my humble opinion no roof ever sheltered a more noble refugee than did this one, in the dreadful war days, when Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, wife of Georgia's greatest statesman, found there a refuge from threatened dangers. In war or peace she has been a heroine, and Georgia women will do well to remember, and seek to emulate her self-sacrificing Christian exam-

to emulate her self-sacrificing Christian exam-ple. Men will hate each other for religious and political differences, and some men may and political differences, and some men may hate Joe Brown, (where he has, by his judgment, generally outwitted them) but it would be hard to find a soul who knows Mrs. Brown, be hard to find a soul who knows Mrs. Brown, but would bring down blessings on her head. Mrs. Brown has had wealth. position and influence far above most women, and yet she has never abused nor made vulgar display of either. She has dared to be sui generis, ignoring all foolish conventionalities and nonsencical society requirements, with a courage and indifference, unknown to any other public woman in the land. In many respects she is a woman beyond praise. I love her, and I am proud of it. These feelings welled up in my heart as I passed the old war refuge at Cordele, and they would force their way to utterance.

A STOCK LAW NEEDED.

All along this Sam railroad there is no stock law. This seems a great hardship to those whose vast acres of cotton, corn and oats must be enclosed with high rail fences. I once whose vast acres of cotton, corn and oats must be enclosed with high rail fences. I once heard a farmer say that it cost him $2,500 per year to enclose and keep in repair his fences. And yet the majority of the men can't see how a stock law would be of advantage to them. Surely blindness in the sterner sex has been heriditary from Adam. The plantations along the railroad were clean and in good order for the planting, which has about begun. The cold snap of March 1st did great damage to the fine oat crops, which two weeks ago were a foot pianting, which has about begin. The cold snap of March 1st did great damage to the fine oat crops, which two weeks ago were a foot high, green, beautiful and succulent. Now they are scorched, yellow and blighted. This frost, though baden the oats, was good for the fever germs, and with this philosophy the disappointed farmers content themselves on their loss. Surely the "Sam" has been a Godsend to these lost counties. It is a civilizer, a Christianizer, a hope and an unexpected glory to those who have long sat in the solitudes of their remote pinelands.

The ride to Helma and back took a day. In the care of Mr. J. O. Lewis, the courteous conductor, and the faithful engineer, George A. Nix, always the most important personage on the train, the trip was made with great comfort, pleasure and safety. As we returned the woods were on fire. The bright red flames were licking up the sides of the tall pines and decouring the sades great with a force.

were licking up the sides of the tall pines and devouring the sedge grass with a fury and beauty singularly incongruous, and the scene in the deepning twilight was weird, picturesque and fascinating beyond description.

MR. H. R. DILL SUPERINTENDENT OF

President C. E. Smith, of Washington, Has a Word to Say About the Augusta and West Florida.

Mr. H. R. Dill has been appointed superintendent of the main stem of the Central —

General Manager Gabbett, as usual, has maile a capital selection. The important office could not have fallen into safer hands. Mr. Dill has for some while past been with the Chesapeake and Ohio as superinten-dent of the Richmond and James River divi-

The appointment is announced in this official order.

"Mr. H. R. Dill is hereby appointed superintendent of the Main Stem Division of this road, taking effect April 1st, vice Levi Hege, resigned on the 15th inst. Mr. W. W. Starr, in addition to his present duties, will attend to the duties of the Main Stem division between the 15th inst. and the date of the appointment of Mr. Dill. All communications appertaining to the super-intendent's office of this division will be addressed to him at Macon, during that period.

CELL GABBETT, General Manager.

Approved. E. P. ALEXANDER, President,

The Augusta and West Florida.

"What are you doing?"

The question was asked Saturday of President C. E. Smith, of the Augusta and West Florida. "The work of construction," said he, "was commenced January 20th, and has been continued without interruption. We have now about ten miles graded.

The building of the Georgia Southern and Florida, from Tifton to Thomasville, will not affect our plans at all.

"The line we have projected will make the net ten miles graded.

"The line we have prejected will make the best lumber road in the south. It passes through 150 miles of long leaf yellow pine timber that will average one car load of lumber for each acre of land.

"We have no apprehension of failure in our effort to build the Augusta and West Florida, and you can put the road down on the next railroad map of Georgia."

Under One Head.

The Outman Lumber company of Georgia.

The Quitman Lumber company, of Georgia, proposes to build a standard gauge road from Boston, on the Savannah, Florida and Western, northwest via McDonald, to Moultrie, on the proposed Thomasville branch of the Georgia Southern and Florida. The dis-tance is about twenty-five miles. J. W. Tay-ler and Daniel Forrest, of Boston, Ga., are interested in the project.

The Atlanta and West Point has purchased

170 box cars from the Ohio Falls Car company, of Jeffersonville, Ind., for $83,300, the payment to extend over five years.

Of the Macon and Birminghamit is expected that the section between Macon and Woodbarv will be opened shortly and that regular trains will be running to LaGrange by August 1st. A MAN FROM MAINE

Comes to Atlanta and Talks About the Race Problem. Mr. Frank P. Stearnes, who has lived all his life in Maine, has been visiting his daughter in Atlanta for several months and is so favorably impressed with the city that he intends making it his home. Discussing the south yesterday he said: "I was born and raised in Maine. Vice-President Hannibal Hamlin was my school-teacher, I came down here to visit my daughter and am delighted with Atlanta, the climate, the people, the business enterprise. I have bought lots and propose to build houses on them, and I'il be back here next winter. I'm making my investments here. I have bought an interest in a large commercial house on Whitehall street."

on Whitehall street."
"Since coming south," he continued, "my views on the race question have undergone a great change. We northern folks do not understand the situation and cannot 'till we come south. The average negro in Georgia fares better than the white laboring recovery in Maine My sitter who is a zeolowe. or georgia fares better than the white laboring poor up in Maine. My sister, who is a zealous church member, sends down fifty dollars a year to aid in the education of the negroes. I shall advise her to keep her money at home and spend it upon our own color up there, who need it more."

'Colored people," said Mr. Stearnes, "should not be allowed to settle among the whites, let them locate together in a district apart. I go home soon and I go as a sort of missionary to convert my fellow citizens from the error of their ways."

ABOUT SAINT PATRICK. The Rev. Dr. Sherrell Talks From His

The Rev. Dr. Sherrill's sermon on St. Pat. rick, at the Church of the Redeemer vesterday morning, was listened to by a large congregation. The doctor was in a happy humor and entertained his audience throughout his remarks. He declared that "St. Patrick was first taken to Ireland a captive by Melchi, an Irish chieftain, at the age of fit-teen or eighteen years. He was born in Scot-land, and was the son of a Scotch deacon and the grandson of a minister. His early educa-tion was thus religious, and fitted him for his wonderful life-work. His name, Patrick, was given him by the Irish, his first name being Succoth, and the 17th day of March, the day we celebrate as his birthday, is really the date of his death we celebrate as his birthday, is really the date of his death.

"He was not a Roman Catholic, but a simple, great-hearted Christian. He was extremely tolerant of the ideas and feelings of other people, and sought to draw rather than drive the people toward the Christian religion.

"He was the patron not only loffreligion, but of learning, the influence of which has been felt all through the centuries down to the present time throughout the whole world.

"Saint Patrick was a true man, an earnest "Saint Patrick was a true man, an earnest Christian, a model missionary, and he gave his life to the people with whom he was, by a kind Providence, associated for so many years."

Meeting of School Commissioners a Superintendents to be Held Next June. A movement is on foot to form an organization of southern educators, who will meet at least once a year for the purpose of discussing questions which now confront the south in her educational advancement.

The prospect has been favorably considered by all the leaders of educational matters in the south and a call has been issued which requests all those interested to meet on the 26th of June all those interested to meet on the 26th of June next at Montgomery, Ala.

In urging a full attendance at the first meeting the call uses the following words:

"We do respectfully and most cordially invite and urge the state superintendents of Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiaua, Texas, and Arkansas, and all other school officers and teachers of the states named, and other states feeling an interest in the progress of education in the south, to come to Montgomery, the capital city of Alabama, on Thursday, 26th day of June next, for the purpose of effecting the organization of an association that shall accomplish much good in advancing the educational interests of the south.

MARRIES MISS ANNIE WILKINS, THE. THIRD SISTER

Whom He Educated-The Good Fortune of a Popular and Persevering Member of the Last Legislature.

Hon. Alfred Herrington-Herrington, of Emanuel—is married. He was one of the most popular members of the last legislature, and a great many friends here and in other parts of the state will be in terested in the story.

He will be most readily recalled to Consul-TUTION, readers, perhaps, by his spirited re-fusal to obey instructions given by the politi-cal bosses of his section to control his vote on the Olive bill.

The incident was the subject of a lot of comment, and secured him many friends.

It was known amongst his intimate sequaintences that he had been twice married, and was again a widower. His two wives were

While his first wife was living he had contributed toward the education of his sister-inlaw, then a young girl.

Then in time he married the second sister-the one he had educated.

The second wife's place in school was taken by a third sister. It was Mr. Herrington's pride that the children should grow up cul-tured and refined, and he spared no expense in giving the third sister—as he had given the second—the best of educations.

Now he has married the third sister. The story is told briefly in this special from "The most interesting occurrence that has taken place in our town in some time is the marriage of Hon. Al-fred Herrington to Miss Annie Lee Wilkins, at the residence of Mrs. E. E. Flanders. The contracting parties are amonst the most prominent and popular young people of this section. Mr. Herrington is our present very efficient member of the legislature. bride is a young lady of many natural gifts and enviable accomplishments. For some time she has been editing the Southern Girl, and many young people in this and other southern states are familiar with her writing. Another interesting feature of the programme s, that this is the third sister Mr. Herrington has married. He has educated and given his bride all the accomplishments that money could contribute, having educated her at one of the best female colleges in the south."

Druggists, you should always have a good supply of Dr. Bull's Worm Destroyers on hand. Mothers want these candies for their children, and wont take any other.

Miss Pearl Melville at Popular Prices. This lady, supported by her own company, will make her debut tonight in Bartley Campbell's fine play, "The Galley Slave," a production well known to our theatre goers and which many will want to see again. Miss Melville is playing a week in Birmingham, and the Age-Herald of Friday gave her again the following fine notice:

her again the following fine notice:
 "Queen's Evidence" was exceedingly well presented at O'Brlen's opera house, last night, by the Pearl Melville company.
 In spite of the inclement weather, the house was large, and there was not a seat unsold except in the parquet. Since Monday night the company has gained steadily in favor, and it is evident that its repertoire is a good one, and that in the casting of the characters there has been excellent discrimination used.

of the characters there has been excellent discrimination used.

Miss Pearl Melville, the star, is one of no small magnitude. She has not only the charm of an excellent stage presence and much personal magnetism, but she has, too, the dramatic instinct intensified by study and experience, and her talent was apparent in last night's interpretation.

Without stopping to individualize as to the rest of the company, it may be said that it is much stronger than one would expect to find at the squitched popular prices, and that it bears the best of excellence in the fact that it is playing to crowded houses.

PEG LEG'S CHANCE.

NEW ENGLAND WANTS THE NEGROES FOR SERVANTS.

He Says He Will Send Them All They Want—The New Movement In Boston, Mass.

Peg Leg Williams is likely to have a chance carry out his scheme of colonizing negroes in the north.

"If they want them I am going to give them to them," is what he said in his interview last to them," is what he said in his interview last Sunday, and the answer comes back through this telegram from Boston to New York:

It is stated today by thoroughly responsible persons who are interested in humanitarian enterprises that an organized effort is making to induce an exodus of southern colored people to New England. The scheme finds its motives in the tack of suitable domestic servants in New England and the desire of certain original abolitionists to place the freedmen in a condition of civil liberty. Mr. Stillman B. Pratt, who is one of those interested in the movement, says that the intention is to induce as many coloren men and women to come to New England as can be supplied with work.

intention is to induce as many coloren men and women to come to New England as can be supplied with work.

The people of this section, Mr. Pratt says, have within a few years found out that the women of the negro race make the best servants that can be had, and there is constantly increasing demand for them from all parts of the New England states. The intention of the promoters of the immigration movement, who are said to be well known business men, is to have whole families come on—the women for domestics and the men for laborers—and he says that the purpose is to colonize them throughout New England in the same way as Vermont is encouraging the immigration of Swedish families.

Mr. Pratt says that the local authorities in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, as well as in Massachusetts, have promised to deal liberally with them, and that as soon as the proper time shall have arrived, the word will be spoken which will start a considerable exodus from the cotton states.

The New Orleans Picayune makes this sen-

"This is entirely reasonable, and it fore-shadows a state of things that is certain to be-come a reality at no distant day. The diffi-culty of getting good domestic servants has long been a most serious one throughout the north ern states, and it has done much to break up ern states, and it has done much to break up housekeeping habits and drive families into the great hotels and boarding houses. There are in the southern states great numbers of skilled domestic servants, both men and wo-men, who have been brought up in the best southern houses. Many of them are cooks versed in the mysteries of the celebrated southern cuisine. A few hundred thousand of these with their families should be welcomed in New England alone, not to speak of a million or so that could easily be accommodated in the various states of the uorth. "In the eyes of the generality of the northern people the negro has no other value than what can be got out of him as a republican voter, or as material for the manufacture of political, partisan outrages for election pur-poses. When they shall become properly ac-quainted with their colored fellow-citizen the quanted with their colored lellow-citizen the northern people will realize that political uses are the poorest to which he can be put. Let them recognize him as a man and brother who can be immensely valuable to the country at large, and to both whites and blacks, if he is large, and to both whites and blacks, if he is accepted for his real worth and many good qualities. Let the negroes be extensively introduced into the northern states and the politicians will come to understand that the colored race is worth much more than to be a social and political disturber. Whenever the negro shall be accepted for what he really is, the worst features of the negro problem will be easily settled. A liberal distribution of them all over the northern states is all that is needed."

When the north gets its share of the negroes there will be no more trouble. New England brought them to this country, now let them help take care of them.

SOCIETY GOSSIP.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., March 16.—[Special.]—The Woman's Christian Temperance union of this city capped the climax of brilliant social events with an elegant banquet on Friday evening, at the Da-rien Bank building, in honor of the young men of the city and the students of the college here. Preparations were made to entertain over two hundred guests and a hundred members of the association. The large rooms were brilliantly illuminated, while pretty decorations, motoes, etc., were pending from the walls. Ten large tables, richly laden with dainties of every imaginable kind, and beautifully set off with pyramids of cakes, fruts, etc., were surrounded by the delighted guests, while a score or more of tastily adorned maids served the different courses with a grace that charmed those present. After the feast the halls and corridors of the large building were thronged with the multitude of ladies and gentlemen, engaged, some in conversation and others in games of different kinds. An-other feature of the evening that was of unusual interest was the recitation and speech-making Mr. S. D. Wootten, in a pretty little speech in be speech, returned thanks for the unbounded kindness of the women of the association. Colonel F. Brantley, of Macon, made a glowing tribute to woman and the work in which they were engaged. Miss Mary Lizzie Bayne caught the crowd with a beautiful recitation, while the music of the evening was furnished by the Woman's Christian Union Quartette club. Taken for all in all, the evening was one of the most plessant ever spent in the old capital, and will never be forgotten by those who attended the feast.

Dalton, Ga., March 16.—[Special.]—A ladies' afternoon club, "The Musical Score," has been recently organized in our city with the following President, Mrs. T. R. Jones; musical director Mrs. Henry Schoeller; secretary, Miss Frank Cun-ningham. The club held its second meeting at the music room of Miss Lide Thompson, at 4 p. m. the music room of Miss Lide Thompson, at 4 p. m. on Tuesday, the 11th. The music on this occasion was much enjoyed, the rendition of Liszt's "Rigolette," by Miss Thompson, being enthusiastically encored. "The Score" gives promise of becoming one of the choicest musical organizations in the state, and will soon begin a series of parlor concerts, to which our music loving people will be invited. The programme of music so far rendered is as follows: is as follows:

ROME. Ga., March 16.—[Special.]—Some months ago the King's Daughters applied for a charter for a city hospital, and it having been received, action is being taken to interest the whole town in the important work. All physicians and minis ters of the city have united in the work, and sub-scriptions of lots and money have been made, as well as the tender of services by several prominent physicians. There was an enthusiastic public meeting held ht the Methodist church on Wednesday evening to forward this benevolent undertak-ing. A committee was appointed to materialize a plan of work to establish the institution to pro-tect the sick and the unfortunate, and especially to give aid to strangers who may be sick here.

Governor Gordon has commissioned the follow ing officers in the military department of the col-lege here: R. T. Crawford, captain and command-ant of the forces; E. J. Smith, captain of company A; R. E. Skinner, captain of company B; E. P. Culver, first lieutenant of company B. Commissions for the other officers have not been re-

ATHENS, Ga., March 16.—[Special.]—Athens has in her midst several fair visitors from neighboring cities and from cities at a distance, and added to her own fair daughters the female beauty and attractiveness now in the city is something noticing.

Miss Lee Whitner, of South Carolina, is visiting Miss Lizzie Barrow.

Misses Maria Bone, Lizzie Lou Walker and Katie Black, of Augusta, are visiting Miss Annie

Miss Anna Coates, of Baltimore, is visiting her sister, Mrs. John C. Benedict.
Miss Mary Toombs Hardeman, of Washington

Miss Savannah Barrett, of Augusta, is the guest So the city is brim full of life and beauty and attractiveness.

Last evening at the Athenæum club rooms a most delightful entertainment was given, complimentary to the young ladics visiting Athens. Quite a large number were in attendance, despite the inclement weather, and a most pleasant evening was spent in conversation and the mazes of the dance.

The Clarke Rifles fair will contain many attractive features, among them an opera. The young folks are hard at work preparing it.

A sacred concert will be held at Lucy Cobb institute tomorrow night. These concerts are always highly enjoyable.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Henley, after a delightful bridal tour through the sunny land of Florida have returned to Athens.

HARMONY GROVE, Ga., March 16.-[Special.]-Mrs. McSmith and her music class gave an enter-tainment at the college hall Friday evening, which was highly enjoyed by the large and cultured audience present. The programme was a long and varied one, consisting of over thirty pieces, each one of which was rendered in a most perfect manner. Where all were so excellent, it is doubly hard to say which pieces were enjoyed the more, but judging from the hearty cheering we would say that the following were deemed by the audience that the following were deemed by the audience unusually good, viz: "Cornet and Piano," by Mrs. McSmith and Master Barber; "Auction of 356,000,000 Children," by Messrs. C. Little, Gordon, Little, C. Waiker, and Misses Gordon, Stark and M. Barber; "Shaking Quakers' Drill," by eight little girls; "Sleighing Song," by ten little boys; two vocal solos by Miss F. Sanders; vocal solo, "Kittens and Mittens," by Miss Bush; piano solo, "Kittens and Mittens," by Miss Bush; piano solo, "Kittens and Wittens," by Miss Bush; piano solo, "Kittens and Mistens," by Miss Bush; piano solo, "Kittens and Wittens," by Miss Bush; piano solo, "Kittens and Mistens," by Miss Bush; piano solo, "All the piano solo, "Miss Bush; piano solo, "Miss

To Young Mothers, Especially those who are for the first time to andergo woman's severest trial, we would say a few words! We offer you, not the stupor caused by chloroform, with risk of death for yourself or your dearly beloved and longed-for offspring, but "Mother's Friend," a remedy which will, if used as directed, invariably alleviate, in a most magical way, the pains, horrors and risks of labor, and often entirely do away with them. Its ingredients are absolutely harmless, and the most ignorant person could not possibly do any harm with it, either to mother or child. Should be used a few weeks before confinement. Bradfield's Female Regulator

Has won, on merit alone, a widespread enduring reputation. We do not claim for it the impossible, or that it will cure every disease to which woman is subject. It is a com-bination of vegetable agents known to act specifically upon the female organs, the result of the experience of one who made these diseases the study of a life time. Taken according to directions, the organs awake to new life and energy, carry off the impure blood through the natural channel, consequently leaves the woman free from pain at these times, and causes her to look forward no longer to each Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga. What a magnificent loo feet to a 15-foot alley. What a magnificent hotel this would make, with five elegant stores on Marietta street to rent, at $1,500 each. This property is on one of the most public and valuable corners in the city of Atlanta, and could be converted into a first-class hotel, fronting on Forsyth street, at very small expense; the immense basement would be just right for storerooms, barroom and billiards, and would rent for big money. This great corner is the most desirable spot in Atlanta for a city hall. With its comfortable offices now ready for occupancy, and those spacious halls sufficient to accommodate thousands of our citizens. We have no place now half large enough.

This building was originally planned and designed for an opera house, with sufficient capacity ta seat thousands. There is no site superior to this, and a little money would accomplish the necessary change. The 150 feet front on Marietta street, without the building, the ground alone is well worth $800 per front foot.
